

MOMLANDO'S

QUICK TRIP: Thornton Park

Take a quick trip to Thornton Park and explore bungalows, craftsman houses, and cobblestone streets. This district boasts historic charm and vibrant arts and culture.

Dickson Azalea Park

100 ROSEARDEN DR, ORLANDO, FL 32803

A hidden little gem of a park with shady trees and blooming azaleas. You wouldn't believe this used to be a spot for cattle herders to let their herd get a drink of water. Today it's a great spot to wander through the bridges and tunnels. Head up top on the Washington Street bridge for an overhead view and photo opp.

Langford Park

1808 E CENTRAL BLVD, ORLANDO, FL 32803

Just across the street from Dickson Azalea Park, your second stop has sprawling oak trees, naturewalks, two playgrounds, and expansive green space. Plan ahead with snacks, a blanket, balls, and bikes and you could lounge here for hours. Your kids will love running through the park's several boardwalks and bridges.
